

WORKSHOP ON VALUE THEORY

Saturday March 25, 2023
9:00am - 5:30pm

What is good in itself?

This is a major question within axiology, which is at the core of Value Theory. In a more expansive sense, Value Theory extends out to include evaluation in moral, social, and political philosophy, as well as philosophy of religion and aesthetics.

Participation is by application only. This will be a pre-read workshop, with papers circulated in advance.

For more information, including eligibility criteria and a link to the application, please visit:

<https://uchv.princeton.edu/events/workshop-value-theory>

This one-day workshop will bring philosophers together for a day of high-level discussions on Value Theory. Presenters include:

Garrett Cullity (ANU)

Thomas Hurka (Toronto)

Mark Johnston (Princeton)

Nandi Theunissen (Pittsburgh)

Leif Wenar (Stanford)

University Center
for Human Values